Suzanne Farley

You hear My voice, firstly, that I would direct your path, that I would direct your steps. The way you go beyond is that you step out on what you do not understand. You step out on what you do not see. You step out on that which is beyond the natural but is supernatural. There are stepping stones in front of you to step on to. As you stir up that which is within you, step out in faith, hearing My word and believing that I am able to uphold, sustain you, to protect you, to deliver you no matter what.

Brian Bell

It is time to walk in the presence of the Holy Spirit. To focus on the glory of Jesus Christ. To keep walking forward in His presence and not looking at things out of the boat but to be with Him in His presence to see what He sees, His heart, what He loves. It is a time to partner, to release His glory with authority and to understand that we do not have any limitations. It is a time for no limitations. It is a time to walk in His glory, His power, His influence and partner with the glorious angels. Anything that comes against us will have to flee. The darkness has to flee because of the light in us.

Dit McCallum

There is a time when you are breaking through and this is the time when the breakthrough has occurred. So what is your expectation? What is your expectation? What I am showing you right now, that as you stretch out your hand to touch, to heal, even to speak the word without touching people. I am releasing the faith for you to take hold, that even right now we can release a healing word over Janet.

You have been sick and have been bound and you have called for deliverance and you have had deliverance and you have gone back and walked in that which you know. The deliverance is so that you are walking in what you do not know. Open your eyes because I am bringing fresh revelation to you from heaven. I can show you things that I am calling you to do.

Caroline Johnson

I am seeing angelic support coming as wind and fire, releasing another fresh empowerment to the weak and the weary and the downtrodden and the lowly. The ones who are unable to and do not understand right now. The Lord says, It is not going to be by your might or by your power but simply by the power of My Holy Spirit that I am going to release you. So I am speaking tenderly to those that are wounded and downtrodden but I will lift them up in their place of humility. In this next season there will be a surprise, a surprising reversal of that which was under a curse to be up and out of it and able to overcome, multitudes of those who are in similar place. As you let Me deliver and free you to be, not just to do but the being will be first because in Me you will live and move and have your being. Those things that looked like they were absolutely impossible and you did not even see them, are going to become visible in the place where I send you to step out.

Saw a thick wall with wrecking ball behind, the ball perfectly is still - not just happened, the sun is shining. There is a breakthrough!

Dit McCallum

As I have set you up and drawn you together to be able to release My Word of power and My Word of authority and My Word of deliverance, it is like the dedication of a new ship that has never gone beyond, it has just been in the harbour, just been waiting and the wrecking ball became that thing that launched out.

As you go, I am the One who is steering the course. It is going out over the nations and as it says in My Word about My glory shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea, so you will traverse with the water of My Spirit, the river of My Spirit over the seas of the nations to be able to see transformation. Everywhere that My Word goes, everywhere that My chosen ones go, is bringing light and transform. This is not a day to stay in darkness. It is not a day to stand in the shadows. It is a day to be seen, to stand up and be counted for My Name, for My Glory, says the Lord. Do not fear for any persecution or any opposition that comes against because surely I have said that I have protected you, that I go before you, that My glory is the rearguard and I am protecting you, My angelic host go with you because there are whole nations that need to hear My word, that need to hear My Word. There is an igniting in the Spirit that is going on across the nations and I am giving you eyes to see and the word to release.

Suzanne Farley

I believe the wrecking ball symbolises the judgment and the favour.
